It goes without saying that a relationship is a lot of hard work. We barely have time to figure out ourselves, much less keep a relationship healthy and strong. That is exactly why most couples start off beautifully and full of romantic excitement, but soon end up leaving one or both parties heart broken and disappointed. Having been exposed to the many different type of guys who take us for granted, we then tend to fall into the trap of always blaming the men for the demise of the relationship. While it may be true that men have a reputation of putting less effort into relationships, both males and females are equally guilty in letting perfectly good relationships die. Often times it is the little things we do that can make or break a relationship and few of us take the time to consider these things.

But why do some men seem to just give up on their relationships? The answer is simple. Some of them are simply not happy. That's where this book come in handy ladies. I have written this book to help you find areas in which most women can improve to keep their boyfriends happy and keep the relationship alive.
