PorTAL - Portugal for Natural Language Processing - follows two previous conferences: FracTAL, held at the Université de Franche-Comté, Besançon (France), in December 1997, and VexTAL, held at Venice International University, Càf-fari (Italy), in November 1999. The main goals of these conferences have been: (i) to bring together the NLP community in Europe; (ii) to strengthen the position of local NLP research in the international NLP community; (iii) to provide a friendly forum for discussion of new research and applications. PorTAL has reaffirmed this year the goals and the high international standing of those conferences, largely due to its Program Committee, composed of renowned researchers in the field of Natural Language Processing, a third of them from Portuguese universities. This clearly contributed to the significant number of papers submitted (48) by researchers from 12 different countries. Each paper submitted was reviewed by three reviewers, either from the Program Committee or by their commitment. All those who contributed are mentioned on the following pages. The review process led to the selection of 35 papers for oral presentation: 23 regular papers and 11 short papers. They have been published in this volume.
